Julia Perez is the Human Resources Manager for Culver Duck Farms, Inc. Throughout her career, Julia has held various HR roles, including HR Generalist and HR Supervisor. Where she played a key role to streamline and implement the HR department and company culture for Culver in the last six years. She has developed recruitment and onboarding programs for new hires. While working with the Safety manager to develop a safety culture and committee. Julia holds an associate degree in business Administration from Ivy Tech. In which she also received a certification for Human Resources Management. These last few years in Culver, Julia has been given the opportunity to seek additional certifications to develop her career knowledge. Julia has been certified in OSHA 30hr, First Aid, CPR & AED, HR Specialist and is actively participating in seminars with the Indiana chamber of commerce and U.S Poultry association.

Julia grew up in a Hispanic home becoming bilingual fluently at an early age where she had many opportunities to help acquaintances in the family in translation services. While in high school she volunteered at what is now the Center for Healing & Hope a nonprofit clinic based out of the St. John's Catholic church in Goshen and then moved to The Window. Julia has also been part of the Hispanic Health Coalition of Elkhart County serving as a volunteer in their yearly health fairs. This created a passion to seek a career in an area where these skills could be better developed and put to good use. While working a full-time job in a leadership position, she attended college, not forgetting her duties as a mother of two beautiful girls.
