

SARAI ROCHA

Quality Assurance Team Leader

Culver Duck Farms, Inc.

Sarai Rocha is the quality assurance team leader at Culver Duck Farms, Inc. She has been serving as the team leader for a little under a year. She has been a part of exporting products out of the USA, and she also communicates daily with USDA to ensure we comply with USDA standards. Before working for Culver Duck, she was a team leader at Utilimaster for six years.

While at Utilimaster she was offered the opportunity to take some college classes in business administration. She would like to complete her associates in business administration and further her education even further in the future.